is there a way to experience prophetic ministry in a god honoring way without all the mess and confusion prophetic ministry is the holy spirit s gift to the church yet this gift has been abused confused and misused making it difficult for today s church leaders to embrace with biblically sound delivery darin slack offers a compelling perspective based on his thirty years of experience in prophetic ministry he challenges indifference and complacency while discouraging doctrinal disorder in the administration of the gift slack provides a powerful and much needed balance that will allow church leaders to see the great potential for blessing in the prophetic while reducing the risk through scripture slack offers leaders from all doctrinal backgrounds a faith building process for realizing prophecy that leads to church edification 1 cor 14 3 this book is a must have for every pastor or church leader who desires to scripturally understand and implement prophetic ministry the veiled prophet organization has been a vital institution in st louis for more than a century founded in march 1878 by a group of prominent st louis businessmen the organization was fashioned after the new orleans carnival society the mystick krewe of comus in the st louis veiled prophet celebration thomas spencer explores the social and cultural functions of the organization s annual celebration the veiled prophet parade and ball and traces the shifts that occurred over the years in its cultural meaning and importance although scholars have researched the more pluralistic parades of the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries very little has been done to examine the elite dominated parades of the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries this study shows how pluralistic parades ceased to exist in st louis and why the upper echelon felt it was so important to end them spencer shows that the celebration originated as the business elite s response to the st louis general strike of 1877 symbolically gaining control of the streets the elites presented st louis history and american history by tracing the triumphs of great men men who happened to be the veiled prophet members ancestors the parade therefore was intended to awe the masses toward passivity with its symbolic show of power the members believed that they were helping to boost st louis economically and culturally by enticing visitors from the surrounding communities they also felt that the parades provided the spectators with advice on morals and social issues and distracted them from less desirable behavior like drinking and carousing from 1900 to 1965 the celebration continued to include educational and historical elements thereafter it began to resemble the commercialized leisure that was increasingly becoming a part of everyday life the biggest change occurred in the period from 1965 to 1980 when the protests of civil rights groups led many st louisans to view the parade and ball as wasteful conspicuous consumption that was often subsidized with taxpayers money with membership dropping and the news media giving the organization little notice it soon began to wither in response the leaders of the veiled prophet organization decided to have a vp fair over the fourth of july weekend the 1990s brought even more changes and the members began to view the celebration as a way to unite the st louis community with all of its diversity rather than as a chance to boost the city or teach cultural values the st louis veiled prophet celebration is a valuable addition not only to the cultural history of missouri and st louis but also to recent scholarship on urban culture city politics and the history of public celebrations in america in the realm of business we had the privilege of encountering christian business leaders who wholeheartedly embody the values and teachings of christ in their personal lives their lives are a testament to compassion humility integrity and love for others however there s a noticeable gap when it comes to transferring these deeply held principles into their business enterprises which ideally should seamlessly extend from their core beliefs the practice of engaging in business transcends being just a profession it is a sacred calling and a divine assignment bestowed upon us drawing from the biblical teaching that we are meant to be a light in a world overshadowed by darkness we recognize that the journey of transformation begins within our businesses and spheres of influence by transforming our enterprises into kingdom businesses we embody this calling and fulfill our destiny
